

What is this website about?

Contributed by Hussain
Monday, 26 November 2007
Last Updated Tuesday, 27 November 2007

This is my personal website. It will be updated with my project work, Troubleshooting info, and what ever comes to my mind to write! Telephone number was a must in the old days. These days an email is a must for a contact info. One day, a website maybe a must! it sounds crazy but life keeps kicking really hard and we are trying to catch up as fast as we can.

The site content will be related to anything that has a relation with a computer or a website, Why is that? because I'm a computer science student who LOVE this field. I spend a minimum of 6 hours facing the monitor! sound crazy hah, but I love it. I like to know new things, new technologies, open my vision to new horizons thru what I know and what I can know. knowledge has no roof, no end.